ABOUT THAT GERRYMANDER.

It was most thoughtful of the Presi-It was most thoughtful of the President and Protective Association of Officeholders, sometimes known as the Republican Auxiliary committee, to appoint a committee of patriots to aid the county commissioners in re-districting the city. The purchase of voting machines makes possible a reduction in the number of city voting districts from 53 to 36. This means a re-districting of the city so as to get all the voters into 36 districts. In the meeting of present and prospective office-holders held the other night the re-districting question came up and the committee was named.

One of the esteemed statesmen from the continuation of the city is the city of the city as a state of the city is the city of the city One of the esteemed statesmen from the fifth, Mr. Cottle, opined that it would be a good idea to "cut a chunk" out of the fifth precinct in order that more votes might be gained for the Republican party. His proposition was joyously assented to by those present. So the county commissioners will undoubtedly be advised as to their plain duty as Republicans. Unfortunately, though, a little matter of law is in the way. The commissioners can fix the boundaries of districts but they cannot change the boundaries of wards.

That is, they cannot take votes out of one ward and put them in another. The law on the subject is so plain that least get their money back. even the members of the Present and Prospective Association of Officeholders should be able to understand it. Yet, if any party carries the entire county by a few votes that party carries the entire legislative ticket along with it, unless, as sometimes happens, a great deal of scratching is done. This is an anomalous condition that should be remedied.

However, the matter is one that the legislature, not the county commissioners or a committee of expectant office seekers, must decide.

MCWADE AND PEIRCE.

McWade, former consul general of the United States at Canton, has made a very serious charge against Herbert H. Peirce, who as third assistant sec retary of state, is responsible for Mc-Wade's removal. Baldly stated, Mc-Wade declares that Peirce grafted a tiger skin rug valued at $500 from him. That is, Peirce saw the rug in Mcfor it that McWade finally gave it to him. Peirce was McWade's superior officer. McWade knew that Peirce was in Canton to investigate the consular service. Therefore, if his statement of the case is correct, the bribe to induce Peirce to make a favprable report.

There is no doubt about the main point in the story. Peirce actually did accept the rug. The question as to whether or not he importuned McWade to give it to him is in dispute. And it is reasonable to infer that Peirce knew he had done something wrong for, after McWade had told his story to a senate committee Peirce returned the rug to him. Now it is hardly necessary to point out the gross impropriety date. The first reports of frost damage in the acceptance of a gift of this value to early fruit were sent out from that from an inferior to a superfor when the latter is conducting an investigation that may mean the loss of the inferior's

All of Peirce's investigations will be fiscredited by the McWade incident. There will be many who will credit Mc-Wade's assertion that, in spite of his generosity to Peirce, the latter looked around for people who cherished enmity against the consul general with a view to securing evidence sufficient to warrant his removal. There will be cackle coming over work like that.

those who will credit, too, the charge that Peirce was himself guilty of the offense of intemperance, one of the grounds upon which he urged the removal of McWade.

Peirce's friends will point to his report against McWade as evidence that fact remains, though, that Peirce was guilty of a grave breach of ethics, to

THE CALVO DOCTRINE.

Very little space was given in the mountement of the death of Carlos Calvo in Paris at the age of $1 years. Most people have been under the impression that Calvo died years ago. The Century Dictionary, inleed, goes so far as to to live, which is to meet the publishers of the Century Dictionary in leed, goes so far as to live when the score of his death is incredible. Either the publishers of the Century Dictionary are in error or the senders of the dispatch from Paris have a case of mistaken identity to account for.

However, the report serves to recall some of Calvo's work. He was born in the Argentine republic but spent most of his life as the representative of his feets he country at various European capitals. Calvo won renown as a learned with the case of mistaken identity to account for.

HOW BROWN WAS HURT.

Injured While Saving City of Salt Lake From Property Loss.

To the Salt Lake Herald: terday at a reception given in honor of the wives of the doctors attending the termination of Mayor Ezra Thompson to oust S. F. Brown from his position as tankman in Parley's canyon, there are few facts associated with the case that the public ought to be made acquainted that a portion was paralyzed. Even at this time Brown is assisted in his work superintendent Frank L. Hines. By reason of Brown's serious injuries, and the fact that he filed no suit against the city, he was permitted to hold his position throughout Mayor Thompson's two terms and during the Morris administration. Under the latter, Brown was reappointed to the place, and the appointment was confirmed by the council

the place, and the appointment was confirmed by the council

At the beginning of the present administration Mayor Ezra Thompson promised to retain Brown. The waterworks committee considered the matter and it was agreed that the place should not be interfered with. Now, a great many citizens are asking why such strenuous efforts are being made to deprive a cripple of a seven hundred and eighty dollars per annum job.

It is possible that there are men in Salt Lake City who, for the purpose of paying a political debt, or to seek revenge for some fancied wrong would stoop to satisfy such desires by such unworthy methods? Will it redound to the credit of the "American" party to discharge Brown? Can any real good come of such unfairness and base ingratitude toward a man who has been faithful in the performance of his duty to the city for many years? That the city is under moral obligation to keep Brown in his position there can be no doubt. Is that obligation to be completely ignored?
